A. Reading

Read the following text carefully.

Originally the Native Americans came from Asia. Over 20,000 years ago, they travelled along land between Siberia and Alaska. Before the Europeans came to America, there were over 300 different groups or tribes.

Not all tribes lived in the same way. Some tribes lived in small earth houses and grew their own food. Some ate only the grass, nuts and fruit they could find. Other tribes were fishermen and lived in wooden houses.

Most Native American tribes were very peaceful. They wanted to live happily with nature and each other. They believed spirits lived in natural things such as rocks, trees or water. They thought these spirits could bring success in hunting, farming, fighting or marriage. They even organized special ceremonies with dancing and music for these events.

Native American songs and poetry were an important part of their tradition. Most tribes didn't have a written language or history, so it was a way of keeping their stories and culture alive. Another tradition among some Native Americans was the peace pipe. Smoking this pipe with a stranger, meant friendship and peace.

Now most Native Americans live in the empty lands west of the Mississippi River. Many live on "reservations", land that the Government recognizes is theirs. Native Americans do not want their old traditions to die so they hold festivals called "pow-wows" in different parts of the United States. They perform their dances and show their art and music. They also have these ceremonies to help their children understand their culture and history. Two very large festivals are the Bald Eagle Gathering in Glacier National Park, Montana, in late October, and the United Tribes Pow Wow, which takes place each September in North Dakota.

Tapescript

Mari: Hi, I'm Mari. I'm here with Ron. Ron is from Hawaii. So Ron, what is so special about Hawaii?

Ron: Well, Hawaii is my home, but to people not from Hawaii, I think Hawaii is famous for its nice weather, its warm all year 'round, also it's known for its beaches. The beaches are very nice. And it's also known for its warm hospitality. The people are also very nice.

Mari: So can you tell me more about the weather? It's always sunny? It never rains?

Ron: It does rain, but often it rains and it's sunny at the same time, so we have a lot of rainbows. Hawaii is also famous for rainbows.

Mari: That's nice. Can you tell me more about the beach?

Ron: We have beaches on all shores of the island -- all our islands. There's many beaches to choose from. And often, some beaches have big waves, some beaches have small waves, and you can choose which beach to go to depending on whether you want to surf in big waves or you want to swim where there's no waves.

Mari: Can you tell me maybe about the nature in Hawaii?

Ron: We have forests, so there's lots of animals, like birds, and small animals like wallabies: we have Hawaiian wallabies and they live in the forest.

Mari: What's a wallaby?

Ron: Wallabies, they're those little mammals from Australia and they were introduced in Hawaii and now they're wild in Hawaii. They've become their own species.

Mari: What do they look like?

Ron: They look like little kangaroos I think.

Mari: Interesting. Any other interesting animals in Hawaii?

Ron: We have a lot of pigs, wild pigs. We like to go hunting for them and we like to eat them.

Mari: Are there any animals that live in the sea?

Ron: We have nice coral reefs, so there's lots of beautiful fish in our coral reefs and many people like to go snorkeling to look at our reefs. We also have turtles and seals in Hawaii.

Mari: Are there any whales?

Ron: We do have whales during the months of March till February I believe. They come from Alaska and they come to Hawaii during those months and then they return to Alaska.

Mari: Wow, there are a lot of animals that live in Hawaii. Sounds like a great place to visit.
